

The borough is pleased to announce that the Closter Plaza "Dancing Diamonds" Sign and "Edens Inc." have been selected to receive a 2017 Bergen County Historic Preservation Award from the Bergen County Historic Preservation Advisory Board. They have been cited in the category "Continuing Preservation or Use". The preservation of this local iconic, mid-century modern sign is a reflection of the commitment shown by Closter Plaza's new owners to the local community's wishes and dedication to the preservation of all its historic sites, large and small.

County Executive James J. Tedesco III and the Board of Chosen Freeholders will present this 2017 Historic Preservation Award during the public program to be held 7 p.m., Thursday, May 4, at Englewood's historic St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 113 Engle St., Englewood.
